ABSTRACT
Designed to provide general access to collected research literature in reading, Indexes to ERIC/CRIER Basic References contains references to more than 3,500 documents published since 1950. References are listed in 45 broadly defined subject areas, the contents of which are described by the descriptive terms which were used for classification. Subject areas are subdivided by grade level. ERIC/CRIER basic references indexed are Published Research Literature in Reading, 1950-1963 (ED 012 834); Published Research Literature in Reading, 1964-1966 (ED 013 969); USOE Sponsored Research on Reading (ED 016 603); Recent Doctoral Dissertation Research in Reading (ED 012 693); International Reading Association Conference Proceedings Reports on Elementary Reading (ED 013 197); and International Reading Association Conference Proceedings Reports on Secondary Reading (ED 013 185). Citations listed in Published Research Literature in Reading, 1900-1949 are not included in the index. An author index is included. (MD)

Index to ERIC/CRIER Basic References -- Author 301

Introduction

The Indexes to ERIC/CRIER Basic References have been developed to provide general access to a large body of collected research literature related to the field of reading. This basic research collection consists of over 3,500 citations to documents which have been published since 1950. The citations include journal articles, doctoral dissertations, USOE reports, and conference proceedings. The citations are organized in six ERIC/CRIER basic references which can be obtained in microfiche or hard copy form from the ERIC Document Reproduction Service (EDRS).[1] Each citation in the six references has been assigned an ERIC/CRIER identification number for reference and index purposes. A complete description of the six references follows:

1. Published Research Literature in Reading, 1950-1963, (ED 012 834, microfiche $1.50, hard copy $19.90 from EDRS).

   Presents 1,913 citations and annotations on published research literature in reading taken from the annual summaries of investigations in reading compiled on a yearly basis by the Reading Research Center of the University of Chicago. Complete bibliographic data for the journal sources used to compile the listing are given. The entries are arranged alphabetically by author in yearly segments. The bibliography covers the complete reading spectrum from preschool to college and adult years and presents research on all aspects of reading, including physiology, psychology, sociology, and the teaching of reading. Complete information on the development of the bibliography is included. (This reference contains ERIC/CRIER documents 2882 to 4803 inclusive.)

2. Published Research Literature in Reading, 1964-1966, (ED 013 969, microfiche $0.75, hard copy $9.10 from EDRS).[2]

[1]Detailed information for ordering publications from the ERIC Document Reproduction Service is given at the end of this Introduction. Descriptive information on other ERIC/CRIER products and services can be obtained on request from ERIC/CRIER, 200 Pine Hall, Indiana University, Bloomington, Indiana 47401.

[2]Although the citations are not included in this index, another ERIC/CRIER reference is available which lists 2,883 articles on reading from the published research literature prior to 1950. Order: Published Research Literature in Reading, 1900-1949, (ED 013 970, microfiche $2.00, hard copy $24.90 from EDRS).

Presents 849 citations and annotations on published research literature in reading taken from the annual summaries of investigations in reading compiled on a yearly basis by the Reading Research Center of the University of Chicago. Complete bibliographic data for the journal sources used to compile the listing are given. The entries are arranged alphabetically by author in yearly segments. The bibliography covers the complete reading spectrum from preschool to college and adult years and presents research on all aspects of reading, including physiology, psychology, sociology, and the teaching of reading. Complete information on the development of the bibliography is included. (This reference contains ERIC/CRIER documents 4804 to 5345 inclusive and 6253 to 6562 inclusive.)

3. USOE Sponsored Research on Reading, (ED 016 603, microfiche $0.50, hard copy $5.30 from EDRS).

Provides a listing of important research completed on reading and closely related topics. Relevant issues of Research in Education and Office of Education Research Reports, 1956-65 were reviewed and documents which discussed research on reading and allied topics were selected for inclusion. The bibliography provides a comprehensive review of all USOE projects on reading funded by the Bureau of Research since its inception in 1956. Each entry includes citation data, index terms, and a descriptive abstract of the contents of the document. All documents are available from the ERIC Document Reproduction Service. Complete information on microfiche and hard copy prices is included with each document along with the ED number necessary for ordering the document. (This reference contains ERIC/CRIER documents 6563 to 6706 inclusive.)

4. Recent Doctoral Dissertation Research in Reading, (ED 012 693, microfiche, $2.00, hard copy $11.05 from EDRS).[3]

Lists dissertations completed in colleges and universities since 1960 in the areas of preschool, elementary, secondary, college, and adult reading. Relevant issues of Dissertation Abstracts were reviewed, and dissertations on reading were noted. A comprehensive analytical abstract was prepared by a professional in reading who worked from the summary reported for each dissertation. In many instances the dissertation itself was reviewed in preparing the abstract. As much information as possible on the procedures, design, and conclusions of each investigation was included in the abstract. Each entry includes complete bibliographic data. Three hundred seventy-nine theses are listed alphabetically by the author's last name. (This reference contains ERIC/CRIER documents 5348 to 5727 inclusive.)

[3]Another compilation of doctoral research related to reading listing theses completed from 1919 to 1960 is also available from EDRS: Doctoral Studies in Reading, 1919-1960 (ED 011 486, microfiche $0.50, hard copy $4.50).

5. International Reading Association Conference Proceedings Reports on Elementary Reading, (ED 013 197, microfiche $4.25, hard copy $56.85 from EDRS).

Lists the important papers published in the yearly conference proceedings of the International Reading Association in Elementary Reading since 1960. The complete text of each paper is provided. The 345 papers are presented within the following categories--(1) The Objectives and Goals in Reading, (2) Reading Programs, (3) Teacher Education, (4) Reading Materials, (5) Methods and Grouping, (6) Reading Skills, (7) Early Reading Instruction, (8) Preschool Reading, (9) Reading Readiness, (10) Reading in the Content Areas, (11) Reading and the Bilingual Child, (12) First-Grade Reading, (13) Linguistics and Reading Instruction, (14) Reading and the Disadvantaged, (15) Reading in Other Countries, and (16) The Diagnosis and Treatment of Reading Difficulty. This bibliography should be useful to practitioners and researchers interested in elementary reading. An author index is included. (This reference contains ERIC/CRIER documents 5908 to 6252 inclusive.)

6. International Reading Association Conference Proceedings Reports on Secondary Reading, (ED 013 185, microfiche, $2.25, hard copy $29.00 from EDRS).

The papers are presented within the following categories--(1) Reading Programs, (2) Reading Personnel, (3) Methods and Grouping, (4) Developing Reading Skills, (5) Materials, (6) Reading and the Content Areas, (7) Developing Interests and Tastes, (8) Linguistics and the Teaching of Reading, (9) The Library and the Reading Program, (10) Reading and the Bilingual Student, (11) Reading and the Disadvantaged, and (12) The Diagnosis and Treatment of Reading Difficulties. This bibliography should be useful to practitioners and researchers interested in secondary reading. An author index is included. (This reference contains ERIC/CRIER documents 5728 to 5907 inclusive.)

In summary, the ERIC/CRIER numbers assigned to citations in the six basic references appear as follows:

Document Numbers for ERIC/CRIER References

REFERENCE	ERIC/CRIER ASSIGNED DOCUMENT NUMBERS
1. Published Research Literature in Reading, 1950-1963	2882 to 4803
2. Published Research Literature in Reading, 1964-1966	4804 to 5345 6253 to 6562
3. USOE Sponsored Research on Reading	6563 to 6706
4. Recent Doctoral Dissertation Research in Reading	5348 to 5727
5. International Reading Association Conference Proceedings Reports on Elementary Reading	5908 to 6252
6. International Reading Association Conference Proceedings Reports on Secondary Reading	5728 to 5907

To translate the numbers used in organizing references 4, 5, and 6 into the above assigned ERIC/CRIER numbers, it is necessary to use special conversion tables. Conversion tables for the three references follow the Introduction.

When the collection and organization of the 3,500 documents was completed, the problem of devising some type of indexing or classification scheme was attacked. Several alternatives were possible in classifying or indexing such a collection, ranging from a general type classification scheme to a scheme involving complex indepth indexing.

Examining a large body of research literature in any area and generating a viable classification scheme is not a simple task. The decision was made to avoid imposing any arbitrary, predetermined system of classification. An empirical approach was adopted which in essence allowed the documents to "classify themselves." A series of broad categories were developed which reflected the general contents of the documents. These categories were also based in part on the scheme used to classify the yearly published summary of research on reading.[4] The initial listing of broad categories was refined and eventually reduced to forty-five units. In all instances, the language in the documents themselves was used to develop the categories to avoid constructing artificial descriptive vocabulary. When the forty-five categories were completed, each document was examined and classified under the appropriate category or categories. Two basic decisions were made about the contents of each document. First, the document was classified under the category or categories which represented the major focus of the contents of the document. Then, if applicable, categories were added which represented areas which were related but not necessarily the major focus of the document. Most documents were classified in an average of four categories. A grade level classification was also made for the document. If the document contents related to a specific grade level, the document was classified under that level only. If the contents related to the intermediate level, for example, the document was multiply classified under grades four, five, and six. This broad classification approach was taken deliberately to insure that all possible specific and related documents would appear under each category and to avoid a classification scheme which would be so specific that it precluded users from making decisions in selecting documents of related but not major interest. Thus, a listing of documents under the category Attitudes and Opinions includes documents directly related to the topic and also brings to the attention of the user documents of related or peripheral interest. The user can expect to examine all document titles within a category and make the final decision on relevance according to his particular focus and need.

The very nature of the contents of the documents in the area of reading also dictated this broad classification approach. Documents seldom relate to any one specific topic, and the nature of the language used and the interrelated content mitigate against a more traditional, specific indexing approach as used in some of the hard sciences.

The classification scheme has also been supplemented in another way to aid the user in locating materials of interest. The title itself for a specific category does not fully indicate the nature of the contents of the documents classified in this category. To provide more adequate description, the titles of all the documents classified in a particular category were examined and the most frequently occurring terms and phrases tabulated. Thus, the lists of phrases and terms which precede the indexes for each of the forty-five categories indicate the general contents of the documents classified within that category.

The index to broad categories can be hand searched, and it is possible to generate lists of documents related to single categories, or combinations of categories, and organize the lists into any desired grade level array. Eventual computer manipulation of the file will also be possible.

An author index completes the Indexes. It provides a listing of all the documents in the basic references by author. Authors are listed as they have signed their articles. Thus, an author may be listed in more than one way. Articles by multiple authors are indexed by the first author.

To manipulate the Indexes, the user must have copies of the six ERIC/CRIER basic references previously described. In addition, the conversion tables must be used for three of the basic references. It is suggested that the user transcribe the numbers provided in the conversion tables to copies of the related basic references if extensive use is to be made of the Indexes. To conduct a search on a specific topic, the user should check the broad categories as listed in the Table of Contents. After choosing the most closely related category, the user can turn to that section and consult the list of descriptive phrases and terms which further define the contents of the category. Document numbers can then be recorded and the citations themselves located in the relevant basic references. (The conversion tables must be used at this point to translate the numerical ordering of the documents in references 4, 5, and 6 to the ERIC/CRIER assigned numbers in the Indexes.) The user can then critically examine the document citations and select those most useful for his purposes. All documents listed in the six basic references are also accompanied by an abstract or brief annotation which provides additional useful information in making decisions about the relevance of the document. Searches can also be made within or across categories by grade level.

Articles reported by specific authors can also be located.

Appreciation is expressed to ERIC/CRIER staff members, too numerous to mention, of the first three years of the contract period for aid of various kinds in developing the Indexes. The co-authors have been especially helpful in providing counsel and reaction in addition to all phases of production. Special appreciation is extended particularly to Ronald Johnson and Karen Johnson, former ERIC/CRIER staff members, who had yeoman responsibility for the development of the classification scheme and the special introductory sections for the categories.
